

Zero Hunger

The second Sustainable Development Goal (SDG 2) focuses on "Zero Hunger," aiming to end hunger, achieve food security and improved nutrition. ATMU plays a vital role in educating students, faculty, and the community about the importance of achieving zero hunger. They raise awareness about food security, malnutrition, sustainable farming practices, and responsible consumption in its several subjects. In this regard, we can point to the specialization of food engineering and the topics in this specialization that focus on food and food safety.
